

Middle School Science Teacher

Seven Acres Montessori seeks candidates for the position of Middle School Science Teacher (part-time) for the 2023-24 academic year.

The individual in this position will be accountable for:

- Teaching a total of two classes in Earth Science to Middle School students in grades 7 and 8.
- Contributing to the life of the Middle School as a member of the faculty

Successful candidates will value collaboration with colleagues, bring creativity and innovation to curriculum development, and deeply enjoy working with adolescents and supporting them in achieving high levels of interest and mastery in science. In addition, candidates must be creative, curious, kind, and detail-oriented with strong organizational, communication, and executive skills. Familiarity with inquiry-based methods is important, as is an affinity towards the application of subject matter to real world problems. They should have an ability to work and multi-task effectively both independently and collaboratively in an active school environment, as well as possess a willingness to add value to all aspects of community life at the School. Further, they should have experience employing a variety of pedagogical approaches for different learning styles. Candidates must also demonstrate experience with inclusive teaching practices, exhibit cross-cultural competencies, and exercise a commitment to equity and advancing the School's mission.

Candidates must have a Bachelor's degree, and ideally 3-5 years of classroom teaching experience. This is a part-time position reporting to the Director of the Middle School.
